The Whitworth University Psychology Department is committed to academic rigor and sensitive human service through the promotion of the scientific study of mind and heart. As part of a Christian liberal arts institution, we seek to train and produce responsible, enlightened citizens who think critically and contribute actively to the field of psychology. Following a scientist-practitioner model, the curriculum is designed to develop both breadth and depth of knowledge in core areas of psychology. Students engage in research and practice that encompass foundational and advanced requirements and electives, culminating in dual senior capstone experiences. Students apply their learning as they design their own research projects, critically evaluate scientific information and other claims, and reflect on the integration of psychology with Christian faith and other worldview perspectives. They gain experience working in the community at a practicum placement of their choice, and they have the opportunity to travel to destinations that bring their classroom learning to life. We offer an enduring foundation in the investigation and understanding of human behavior, emotion and mental processes, in an atmosphere that nurtures relationships among people of diverse backgrounds and offers mutual support and friendship among faculty and students.

The learning outcomes of this major prepare the student to do the following:

1. Demonstrate familiarity with the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, and historical trends in psychology.
2. Understand and apply basic research methods in psychology, including research design, data analysis, and interpretation.
3. Respect and use critical and creative thinking, skeptical inquiry, and, when appropriate, methods of discovery to solve problems related to behavior and mental processes.
4. Understand and apply psychological principles to personal, social and organizational issues.
5. Value empirical evidence, tolerate ambiguity, act ethically and reflect other values that are the underpinnings of psychology as a science. Engage each student’s mind and heart in order that each may "honor God, follow Christ, and serve humanity," incorporating the tools that psychology has to offer in this endeavor.
6. Demonstrate information competence and the ability to use computers and other technology effectively for many purposes.
7. Communicate effectively in a variety of formats.
8. Recognize, understand and respect the complexity of sociocultural diversity.
9. Develop insight into one's own and others' behavior and mental processes and apply effective strategies for self-management and self-improvement.
10. Pursue realistic, yet creative, ideas about how to implement psychological, interdisciplinary and personal knowledge, skills and values in vocational pursuits in a variety of settings that meet personal goals and societal needs.
